The Modesty of Women

Jaturally makes them shrink from the indelicate questions, the obnoxious ex-aminations, and unpleasant local treatmaninations, and unpleasant local treatments, which some physicians consider essential in the treatment of diseases of women. Yet, if help can be had, it is better to submit to this ordeal than let the disease grow and spread. The trouble is that so often the woman undergoes all the announce and shame for nothing. Thousands of women who have been cured by Dr. Reree's Favorite Prescription write in appreciation of the cure which dispards but the examinations and local treatment. There is no other medicine so sure and safe for delicate and local treatments. There is no other medicine so sure and safe for delicate women as "Favorite Prescription." It cures debilitating drains, irregularity and female weakness. It always helps. It almost always cures. It is strictly non-alcoholic, non-secret, all its ingredients being printed on its bottle-wrapper; contains no deleterious or habit-ferming drugs, and every native medicinal root entering into its composition has the full endorsement of those most eminent in the several schools of medical practice. Some of these numerous and strongest of pro-

Authentic details of the atrocities committed by the fanstical Mohammedans in the villages and farms about Tarcus are coming in. The worst particulars of these parratives cannot be mentioned, but they set forth without doubt that at least 10,000 persons lost their lives in this province and some estimates place the total casualty list at 25,000. Many villages were actually wiped out. Each of these places had populations of from 500 to 600 people. In one town of 4,000 people there are less than 100 left, nearly all women and children. The slaughter was unsparing; even Greeks and Syrians were struck down with the Armenians. Entire families were burned to death in their homes. Hundreds of girls and women were maltreated and carried off to the harems, where the women were separated from the men.

The correspondent was informed that at one place a party of 100 Armenians surrendered to the soldiers. The prison-ers were taken to an open field, when he women were ordered to stand spart from the men. Everyone of the men was then shot. In many cases they were killed with their women clinging o them, trying to save their lives. large number of women were wounded because of their persistence. Sixty men who were brought down into this district from Hadjin are now held as Serges, fancy Prunellas, are about 4,000 refugees here.

The yard of the American mission house looks like a prison peo. The men wander around all night trying to keep warm. The women and children sleep at night on the floors of the schoolrooms. Very few of them have beds. The Armenian population of the vil-lage of Kozolook was put to death.

The governor of the district promised to protect the Armenians if they would give up their arms. This the Armenians decided to do after a long parley. Then, under pretense of taking them to a place of safety, they were led out from the village under escort to an open field. Here the men were ruthlessly killed and the women subjected to malireatment, A number of Armenian girls were forced to marry Turks.

TOWN PARTIALLY BURNED. Over one-half of the historic town of Repedict, Charles county Md., was destroyed Monday by fire which started in the building owned by A. M. Bowling, and occupied by a merchant. It is said tha an oil stove was upset, and the blaze spread rapidly and soon enveloped the entire building. The was a stiff southwest wind blowing at the time, and it did not take long to realize that the en-tire row of twelve houses on the right side of the main street was doomed. The houses were all recently constructed, and their average value was about $1,200. The Methodist church, recently built was among the buildings destroyed. Benedict is one of the historic spots in Maryland, being the place where Admi-ral Cockburn, of the British pavy, landed marines and sallors in August, 1814,
